EUROPEAN WAR NOW ON

Long Looked For Conflagration Breaks.

Russia, Germany, Austria, Italy, France and England Involved In Great Struggle.

The long looked for European war of the Prince and Princess of Austria: was the spark which started the conflagration that is destined to lavolve all Europe and possibly other mations of the world before it ends, Austria declared war on Serven as a result of the assassination of her Prince and Princess, This Irrought Russia to the aid of her ully, Servia. and Germany decartd war on her which quickly brought France and Eagland into the conflict-

It will be the greatest war of modern times and no one can guess the outcome. The United States has isall the countries at war at the capltals of all of them. The events, hourby take place with such startling rapidity that It is difficult to keep up with such stiring times.

FOREIGNERS ARE STEALING TRADE

Tariff Economic Invasion Encroaches Further.

The downward course of businessof all business affected by the tariffbecomes every month more rapid and more marked. April laports and exports, tabulated by the government, show why capital is being invested in public bonds instead of in linkstry; why milis and factories are running on haif time or closing for good; why workmen, skilled or anskilled, are lumting jobs in harvest fields or sitting discouraged at home; why stores, big and little, are finding business siack and obligations hard to meet.

Stealing the Market.

Item ofter item tells the same story of foreign goods stealing the market from the American manufacturer, not because the consumer prefers foreign goods, tut because the middleman prefers them. The economic Invasion encroaches further month by month; Industry tiags; no longer does surplus production from factories working full time permit experiment with foreign markets; exports decline.

Wool manufactures, which became subject to lower linty on Jan. 1, were in four months imported to the extent of $15,682,114 as compared with $4,-939,640 from January through April, 1913.

When Tariff Bars Are Let Down. As for sugar Imports, which for the eight months ending with February were in 1914 $14,933,771 jess than in 1913 and $10,098,567 less than in 1912, the imposition of the lower tariff an March 1 turned the scale against American planters. These imports illustrate geometrical progression by which the increase in importation grows when tariff bars are let down. During March they were It per cent and during April nearly 22 per cent more than imports for the corresponding months of the preceding year.

Dwindling Payrolls.

The increase in the importation of cotton kult goods goes merrily on to the accompaniment of slackening machinery and dwindling payrolls. For the first six months under the new tariff the imports of hosiery were 23 per cent and the imports of other knit goods 737 per cent more than in the corresponding period a year earlier. For April, 1914, they were, respectively, 47 per cent and 714 per cent greater than in April, 1913.

As much as 116 per cent more leath er was imported in April, 1914, than in April, 1913; 25 per cent more gioves and 227 per cent more troots and shoes-uli to the detriment of American tanners and manufacturers.

Steel Severely Affected.

Steel has been so severely affected by the change in tariff, according to the chairman of the United States Steel cornoration, as to encourage throughout the industry and in many cases to compel the reduction of of the schedules of the Underwood making basiness conditions in steel during the last few months "worse that they have been before at any time during the fast decade." To specify only one small item revealed in the April summary, imports in entlery exceed those of April, 1913, by 93 per cent. Other items reveal equally bad or worse lendencies. It was the effect of low tariff in Pittshurgh not merely upon steel workers, but upon all that sell to steel workers commodities of any sort, which was, in part, responsible for the tremendous applause which greeted ex-President Rooseveit's condemnation of the present administration's turiff policy.

Augurs Ill For the Future.

Even the most firmly established industries show a disparity between the increase in imports and the increase in exports, which augurs lii for the future of the American manufacturer If hard times continue to fimily the murket and if the Underwood tariff contimes to transote competition between cheap foreign labor and high priced domestic labor. For histance, in April. 1914, the exports of parts of automobiles, excluding tires, uncounted to $10,465, or to per cent more than in April, 1913, wifile for the same period the increase in imports was $119,841, or 279 per cent.

A Danvaging Witness.

In nisolate value the inroads upon the American nurket may not be colossai as yet, imt a t crlif which can so quickly overbalance galus abroad by losses at home her necessiarly prosperous industry and can make those josses at home weigh heavier month by munth is to force to be ignored. On the whole, no more damaging witness to the economic mistakes of the Underwood taviff need be adduced than the April "Summary of Commerce and Cimuce."-New York Press.

Running Still Deeper Into Debt.

Agnic and ber month gives us an adverse intance of Irade. Our Imports during May iccreused $20,000,000 and our exports decreased $33,000,000 as compared with why a year ago. And our favorable talance of trade was eatirely wiped out, and instead we have an adverse balance of nearly $2,000,000, And so our foreign indebtedness is pilled up, and sooner or later we must pay the bill not, as heretofore, with goods, but with gold.

Costliest Thing a Nation Can Do. Iteferring to the boastful showing to the collector of the Port of New York of a large increase in receipts from tariff duties, the New York Press remurks:

We can't lacrease our imports through American wage carters, without striking ultimately at our own formers, for when we take newly wages from the workers to our milis and inclories we take away by just that much the purchasing power of the natural consumers of the products of Precisely so. When customs receipts increase under a greatly resinced tariff and a large addition to the free list it is as plain as day that American labor and production, wage carning and wage spending are displaced by fully double the amount of that increase. Agricultural ludustry feels the blow Just as severely as manufacturing industry. Charles Cheney, a skided observer and analyst, has said that for every dollar which the government recelves from Increased revenue under the "Tariff for revenue only" $2 is taken from some American workingman. It is a moderate statement and a true one. 'the costliest thing a rottion can do is to get more revenue from the increased haportation of competitive commulities.

The Ideal Free Trader.

Poor old drenner! Wilson says he does not believe that the tariff has anything to do with the awful conditions now prevailing throughout the country. But the manufacturers do. Mr. President, and your piatitudes do not seem to jar them loose so that they dare to enter competition with your European friends who are shipping goods into this rountry as fast as they can produce them. And those goods are cheaper than Americans can produce them, too, and nutli wages are reduced all along the line there is little hope that American factories end rnn on more than 50 per cent of their capitelty, and not on that much as soon as the Europeans Increase their capacities. The balance of trade is now against this country, the first time in forty years. Go it, Woody, old scout! You are the birai free trader of this century. Make the most of your time while you wield the club over your terrorized subjects. - Pueblo (Colo.)

More Power to Them!

Ciuclimati business men are arranging to go into polities. At a recent meeting of men prominent in the city's industrial affairs the Intelligence of present members of congress was severely criticised from a business standpoint. It was said that there are too tuany lawyers and not enough business men in congress, which is quite true. As a matter of fact, there are too many lawyers anyhow. There would be less litigation if there were less iawyers. But in any event the Cincinnati movement is a good one. More business men in politics and in legislation would help matters greatly. If tusiness men had been more plentiful in congress the Underwood tariff bill would not have been passed; also if there are enough imsiness men elected to congress this year and in 1916 the Underwood tariff law will be repealed. More power to the huslness men! .

Agricultural Schedules.

A carefully compiled and entirely accurate comparison of the tariff duties wages. Low taciff has contributed to free trade law relating to agricultural products and provisions with the duties in the corresponding schednies of the Payne tariff is given in the American Economist of July 10. This comparison is from advance sheets of the Protective Tariff Cyclopedia," and Imporlant work soon to be issued by the American Protective Tariff league, and has been prepared by a statistical tariff expert in Washington of long experience and recognized authority. It is not too much to say that no other comparison of the two taritis of equal accuracy and reliability has yet ap-

Reduces Its Dividend Again.

Lowering the tariff on sugar has unfavorably affected the beet sugar market so that the directors of the Utahhiaho Sugar company have found It necessary to reduce dividends. This is the second cut made since January, the first being in April, when the dividead on each share of stock dropped from 17% cents to 15 cents, or from 7 to 6 per cent. Last Tuesday, however, n em from 6 per cent to 5 per cent was made, to take effect July 1, after widen the stock will pay 12% cents a share. With this cut the rate of divident will have dropped from 7 per cent, paid in July, 1913, to 5 per cent la July, 1914. -Bay City (Mich.) National Parmer.

The Reason. While the national administration is trying to jay hands on foreign markets. foreign products of the farm are by the act of the Democratic party admitted free, and put on sale in our home markets, and that is a just reason for the American farmer's claim that the administration has put them on the unfair fist, and that is why Democratic farmers will vote for Republican conpressional candidates the confug election.-Cedar ftajdds (la.) Leader.

"Business Be Damned." Not "the public be d-d," but "bust uess be d d," is the siogan of the practical "new freedom," and If there is anything more than rest left when the administration gets through it will be because obstraccy got tonried up and hamstrung in ties wreckige.-Philadelphia Public Ledger.

WHAT FREE TRADE TARIFF HAS DONE

Home Froducts.

Here are a few things the Democratc unti-farmer tariff bill has done and not one of which would have hoppened under a Republican protective tar-

First.-Ailowed the free importation from Argentina nione of nearly $12.-000,000 worth of beef and about $3,-000,000 worth of mutton and pork.

Second .- Allowed the free importation of over 50,000,000 dozen of eggs

Third.-Allowed the free importation of such enormous quantities of, butter from New Zealand and elsewhere that the Pacific coast market was glutted and the butter was sold so freely in Montana that for the first time in iristory Moutana butter producers had to sell some of their prodnct outside of the state.

Fourth.-Allowed the free importation of live stock from Canada to Paciffe coast points to an extent that has reversed the trend of recent years and is making Pacific coast points a poorer instead of a better market for Montana producers.

Fifth.-Allowed importation of structurai Iron and steel until American milis are running at less than 60 per cent of their capacity, with over 200,-000 steel and Iron workers out of jobs. It allowed British milis to capture the market on steel cotton tles for the southern states. It has allowed Toyas to buy its street railroad confoment in Blrmingham and has permitted British milis practically to monopolize the Pacitic coast markets for steel and Iron.

This list could be extended, but it would prove no more than the above. The point is that the Democratic tariff till has taken away a imue market for home products to the extent of hundreds of millions of dollars.

What have Americans or America gained in return?-Lewistown [Mont.)

Ail In Your Mind.

President Wlison mocks the business world by saying that the present depression of business is "merely psychological" and that if manufacturers believed prosperity would come, why, then, it would come "with a jump."

Once there was a faker who declared that if everybody would follow his advice the world would cease revolving, and all were urged to send him dollar for this miraculous advice He got many a dollar, and to all victims he gave the advice that at a certain day and moment everybody should face the east and simultaneously short "Oh!" with a great puff of breath eastward. The combined breaths would make such a cyclonic current of wiml eastward that in the reaction or recoll the world wanhl stop revolving. But he was not a president; just a faker.

According to Babson's scientific reports, the country is now doing only twenty-flye-seventy-sevenths of its normal manufacturing production. Let everybody shout "Oh, it is psychological."-Northwestern Agriculturist.

The Shoe Pinches.

Persistent reports emanate from Washington that the department of commerce is making an investigation with the idea of recommending to President Wilson that a duty of 1 cent a pound be levied on sugar imported into the United States. The Underwood-Simmons tariff makers threw away $40,000,000 n year in revenue and gave that much to the sugar trust by adopting the free sugar plan, with no appreciable benefit to the consumer and with much damage resulting to sonthern cane and western beet sugar planters.

The income tax ins faller $23,000. 000 short of expectations.

The tariff shoe is pinching even the Wilson administration. If it backtracks on sugar it will have to backtrack on other Items and confess that its tariff is a failure. - Binghamton (N. Y.) Itemblican-Heraid.

Free Trade Conditions.

"i'nempiayed horde overrous Missouri." was the headline in one of the big newspapers of the state jast week. it referred to the trainloads of harvest hands responding to the call for help in the wheatilelds of Kansas and Missonri. Democratic tinkering with the tariff abvays brings just such conditions. These men came mainly from the east, and the large numbers of them is inc. ative of the widesproad condition of unemployment in the United States occasioned by the business depression and hard times which follow in the wake of Democratic legislation on the tariff.-Central Missouri Republican.

The Depression le Political.

The industrial commission now ami then gets into politics in spite of all It can do toward keeping its investigation upart from politics. An episode of much signitiennce, which developed at the session of the commission in Philadeiphia June 20, is described by the Inquirer as follows:

Another spicy bit in the long and pa-tient inquiry of the commissioners under the general head of textiles occurred when William Ferris, one of the representatives of the boarders, or shapers of hose, was on the stand and said the workers "liv-lieved the depression in the hosiery fac-tories was political."

"How political?" asked Counsetor Ibi-sick of Kansas.

Why, our employer says that eight jobbing houses are combined to boy stock logs in Germany at $1.41 n dozen, Demo eratic tariff included, white it costs as $1.88 here to make the same. It is just as much as telling as that Penrose has god to be elected to the tonted States senate tor he stands for high lariff protection That's what the workers believe when we sty the depression is political"

It will be faird to convince the wage earners who have lost their jobs or are working shorter hours that the de pression is otherwise than political in its origin and cause. When a political party enacts a tariff law that permits the Germans to unierseli American hosiery makers 41 cents on a dozen the resulting loss of work and wages by Americans becomes a political de pression that can only be cured through politics. The remedy is at the polis. There is no other way of deal ing with the situation.

Sufficient Reason to Be Morbid.

We are assured by the nation's civic head that ail our business troubles are "merely psychological," simply the vagaries of a morbid state of mind.

Not admitting the diagnosis is cor rect, but assuming for the sake of ar gnment that such a tiding could be are we to be blamed for 11? With the nation's legal machinery exerted to prove that corporate wealth is only another name for rascality; with third rate officials of no proved competency issuing decrees that underwine the stability of railroads; with incomes being taxed to make up the tariff revemues turned over to foreign countries, are we to be blamed if Industrial melancholia claims us for its own?

With an administration assuming in advance of any proof that the country's most conspicuous men and ludus tries are to be watched and feared and their guit proved by their bank balances, which must be ent down by federal control; with the president personally urging federal legislation indi cative of his belief in the inability of states to govern themselves; with his insistence upon executive peopage as a protection against corporate piracy. would it be wonderful if confidence and credit succumbed to chilis and plant burned 1,000 sheep and reague?-Goshen (N. Y.) Democrat.

A RACE FOR FOOD

It Was Slow and Painful and Over Arctic Ice Fields.

PLIGHT OF TWO EXPLORERS.

Their Fight Against Death by Starvation and the Visions That Were Conjured Up by the Torture of the Maddening Pangs of Hunger.

The terrible phantom that haunts every traveter in the desert is the possibility that he will not flud water. The arctle explorer rarely suffers from thirst, but another danger, equally terrible and menoring, is always on his trait - starvation.

In "Lost In the Arcric" Captala Ejuar Mikkelsen, the explorer who, after having been given up for itead for over two years, was picked up to east Greenland by a salling vessel, gives a graphle account of his race ugalust tunger. Their sledge dogs dead, their outilis abandoned, every morsel of food tong since devonred. the only hone of Mikkelsen and his companion was to reach 17 Kilometer Suesset, where, on the full trip, they had left a tew tins of food

Every two hours we make a short talt, but the rest is spoiled by the thought of the uncomfortable quarter of an hour that awalts us when we start and try to get our stiffened amsctes into working order ugain. Our feet especially are very naluful; the ankles are swollen and horribly tender.

"The pangs of bunger increase every minute. For my own part, I can think of nothing but food. At first my thoughts dwell moon all sorts of dishes. but gradually they concentrate themselves upon sandwiches-Dantsh smalwiches in particular my fancy turns upon the food that I have seen given away to beggars, and I grow furious at the thought of the contempt with which these gentry often regard such

"Bradnatty the thought takes possession of me that I am walking in the streets of Copenhagen, eagerly on the tookout for sandwiches. "We pass many old camping places, elies of the Denmark expedition; but, dihough we search long and carefully among the old tins for mny remains of food, we find nothing. in the gathering durkness every point we approach seems to us the one we seek. Encouriged by the thought of food, we redouble our efforts. But when we get close enough to see that it is not the point our flickering flame of energy lies down, and we stagger sullenly tiong with bowed heads

"We have no tonger any idea of our whereabouts, and it is indescribably anching to see thine after time the tame headland with the two small lilllocks at its foor, the ghost of 17 Kilometer Naesset. About 10 o'clock, bulf and with hunger and exhaustion, we give it up and, creeping as close together as possible, try to sleep. But the path in Iversen's log is so great that he camput sleep, and he is half out of his mind. He wakes me at midalght and begs me to go on. "It is bitterly cold, and the wind has iblited so that it is blowing in our faces. Staggering unstendily and feeting our way with our sticks, off we go

HANDLING BAGGAGE.

System That Simplifies Matters Fo the Railroad Men.

Like most other mysteries, that of handling the thousands of pieces of higgine that come to a great ratiroad station has a simple solution. It seems to the hynan that there must be contusion when meoning mitas dump fundrels of trunks and hand bags into the baggage rooms for, distribution to all quarters of the city. System, which has come to play un important part in all b ishness newarlays, has made bug ringe handling a rather simple matter for the ranionits. It is the use of a key number that does the trick.

Travelers have noticed that their check numbers run into sty names, it they pay attember to the figures on their checks at all. It is the third of these mits, counting back from the final number, that is the key to the whole system of distribution. The expressman who handles the baggage for its home distribution hands in to the taggage agent his mass of collected checks, all sorted on that busis, and the baggage lamillers tastle the stuff out with very little delay,

Suppose he has only a few checks from in the oning local train. They may read 381741, 384201, 384509, 384-785, 884812 (88487, 884622, 884250, 884-739, 384747 (384950 and 384123 In each case the first three figures are identical -38t The Brst variation begins with the fourth, or hundreds, unit. By means of this unit be separates his cheeks-all the 7's in one bruch, all the 5's in another, and so on

In the taggage room the trunks and bags are distributed as soon as received in ten apartments, each bearing a unit number, from 0 to 31, 'That munber invariably represents the hundreds unit of the claimant's check. The trunk with a 384543 check would go to the same compartment as one numbered 385543 or 385543 or 12543 or 987543 The figure 5 is the key figure, with the result that there is never any contaston or trouble in tocating the baggage desired. It would be in the compart ment numbered 5.

This simple plan solves the mystery as to the prompt tocation of a piece of hand laggage when a passenger rolls up to the baggage room door to a taxi to get the piece of tuggage be has that checked and has to walt but a moment to obtain it. It is a very simple som tion of the trouble that a few years ago annoved all travelers who had to walt for baggage to be transferred from one terminal to another in their own conrevauces.-New York Snn.

ORIGIN OF METALS

Varied Theories as to How the Ores Are Formed.

NATURE HIDES THE SECRET.

Science Has For Centuries Tried to Wrest It From Her, but Geologists and Mineralogists Are as Yet Unable to Agree Upon the Process.

You have read of that legendary Indian who while clasing game on a Bollylan monatain ide selzed a bush to prevent bluself from falling, and, the faish being pulled loose from its scanty hold on the rocks, he saw its crooked roots grasping masses of glenning white ore and thus became the discoverer of the famous sliver mines of Potesi.

You have also rend, perhaps with Itching tingers, of prospectors picking up nuggets of gold worth a thousand dollars each or opening veins of quartz all shot through with heavy threads of the yellow metal.

You know that ores of gold and sliver or of any other precions or useful metal are not to be found in everyhody's back yard, but must be sought for lu certilla favored parts of the

But has your litelilgent curlosity ever led you to inquire how those ores came to be where they are and nowhere else? Have you ever wondered what umkes a gold migget?

Possibly you think that gold and other metals grow somewhat as fraits do-in soils and climates that are specally suited to them. Well, there is considerable truth in that idea, and the word "grow" is, in one sense, sur prisingly applicable to such deposits,

But there is a great deal more in the matter than you would thingine, and on no subject has science tought more hattles royal than on this of the origin of metalife ores. I think that there are some geologists who would rather that out this secret to the very bottom than discover the richest lode that the ribs of the earth contain. If they could do both that would be perfection, and we must not forget that knowledge is Until about 400 years ago everybody who thought about it at all believed that veins of precions ore were distributed under the tuffuence of the planets. At that time astrology held the place of science.

Finally George Agricula, a German mineralogist, who fived about the time when the gold and silver of Mexico and Peru were making Spala the temporary misiress of the world, hit upon a theory which came la substance very near the truth. He taught that water. penetraling into the earth and becoming heated, took up scattered minerals lu solution and afterward deposited them as ores in cavities in the rocks. The mineral solutions be called the earth's "inices."

A comple of hundred years later the German geologist Werner set forth a view that became very famous under the name of the "Neptunist theory," from Neptime, the god of the sea. Werner's Idea was that as the earth cooled down from the primeval nchula ont of which It was formed It was en veloped in a universal hot ocean, holding in solution all kinds of minerals, and that when the rocky crust was formed the water leaking down into it deposited its metallic contents by chemical precipitation in veins and lodes wherever the circumstances were

But a hundred years ugo the Neptunist theory, which had swept everything before it in the minds of men of science, met its Waterloo at the hands of Hutton, the Scottish geologist, with his "Pluronie" theory afrom Pinto, the god of the infernal regions. Untton's idea was that the materials which till the metallic veins were melied by heat and forcibly injected into the would smile over my explanation." the clefts and dissures of the strota from below.

The "Neptunists" and "Plutonists" had a hard tight, with the latter holding the upper hand, until their theory had assumed a kind of compromise form, with water again playing the principal role. The American geologist, Van Hise, is the author of one of the latest theories, according to which meteoric water (condensed atmospheric vaport penetrates deep into the earlb's crust, and, with steadily tacreasing temperature, takes up mineral matter iuto solution. Spreading, as it gets deeper, the water reaches larger openings in the rocky crust, in which it ascends, with decreasing temperature and pressure.

There it deposits the ores, whose materials it has collected in its wanderings and carried along in solution.

But this is not the last word, and in recent years there has been a partial reaction toward the Plutonist theory. Besides, a great deal seems to depeud upon the nature of the ore whose origin is in question.-Garrett P. Serviss In New York Journal.

HIS MOST ANXIOUS MOMENT.

When Dewey Feered He Might Be Branded as a Cowerd.

Admirai Dewey telis in his autohiography the story of his most anxious moment. It was when he was executive officer of the wurship Mississippi After passing the forts at New Orleans his ship was about to sink under fire. and the crew had to be taken off in bonts. There were not enough bonts. and the danger of a magazine explosion became so great that the crews showed increasing hesitation in returning for another load. On a sudden impulse Dewey jumped into one of the bonts to go after the rowers and compel them to return. He continues

"Not until we were free of the ship did I have a second thought in rentization of what I had done. I had left my ship in distress when it is the rule that the last man to leave her should be the captain, and I as executive offieer should be next to the last. "That was the most anxious moment of my career. What If a shot should sink the bout? What if a rifle bullet should get me? All the world would say that I had been guilty of atout as craven un act as can be placed at the loor of an officer. This would not be pleasant reading for my father up in Vermont. He would no longer think that I had done the 'rest' reasonably well If the ship should blow up while I was away and I should appear on the reports as saved probably peo-

As It turned out, however, the mugazine did not explode, and Dewey's presence was needed to bring the bent crews back and save the men still oa the sinking ship.

Henceforth, while this paper contimes mader its present ownership. it wil exercise a degree of independent ence in polotics which It has not heretofore enjoyed. It will support the Republican principle of protection and Republican candidates generally, unless it is known to its owners that they have been disloyal to the people are unworthy, have obtained their nomications through fraud or by debauchlug the electorate. We do not wear any one's collar, and we will not support a man simply because he wears a nomination ing. where the interests of the laboring people were at stake. We are to attempt to make the paper, more than less of their political opinions and therefore able to call a spade a spade without fear or favor. It that is the kind of paper you like we shall be g'ad to have your support.

Our views concorning the primary election laws have received a decidoll shock by the results of the late greatest opportunity to rule and that the primary instead of the old bass riddon convention system that the very thing. It seems the people do when given an apparating to doso it cost O to county about $1,200 to hold the recent primary. There were east by a i parties 2,089 votes. It each voter. Taking each party separately the Domocrats cast in the Senaturkal race 1,260 votes and for them a one the east would amount to almost one dollar per voter. The Republicans cast 686 votes at an expenge of about two dollars to the county, while the Progressives east 43 votes which would be for that party about thirty dol'ars to poll one vote In view of the lack of interest among the people in the selection of their nominees by tals mode, does it pay?

Must begin as soon as the ground will do to plow. In fact, with the famous OLIVER RIDING-BREAK-ING PLOW you can begin at any time.

So the first consideration is to bny one of our OLIVER PLOWS and the rest will be easy. If you haven't had a demonstration of its work call us up and our man will show you in your own field.

The progress of our farmers have made in the production of wheat is certainly very encouraging.

Only a few years ago a yield of 2 or 3 hundred bushels on our farms was a big crop. Now we have many farmers whose record is over one thousand bushels a year—and yet we are not producing as much as we are consuming. Boys, let's feed ourselves next year. Let's go in for more acres and more bushels to the acre; use better plows and plow more acres in a day.

Buy an OLIVER. This great company has progressed in producing plows as you have progressed in your methods of farming. Keep pace with each other and both will come out triumphant in the end.

FAMOUS SLOVENS

They Had a Fine Contempt For Personal Appearance.

GENIUS IN UNCOUTH ATTIRE.

Turner, the Artist, Dressed Like an Old Time Cab Driver-Dr. Johnson Was Grolesque, and "Old Fitz" Outraged All the Sartorial Conventions.

It is surprising how outrageously careless of their personal appearance many famous men have been. Genlus may or may not be ullied to madness, but It has certainly very often been linked with an utter disregard for clothes and cleanly habits,

It is said of Turner, the great landscape painter, that his hands were "the spinifest and dirtlest hands on record." Perhaps that is an exaggeration, but be was certainly very slovenly in his dress. He wore n Idnek swallowtali dress cout, very much in need of a clethesbrush vigorously used, and in the warmest as well as in the coldest weather he were round his throat a sort of wrap or muttler, which he would infloose, letting the ends dangle down in front and dip into the colors of his paiette. He aiways worked either with his old hat on his head or with this same large mullier over his head. His appearance was more like that of an old time coachman timn of a famous Boyal Academician, for he was short and stout, with a red and biotchy face.

Dr. Johnson's slovetilness has al most passed late a proverb. There are many contemporary accounts of his turning out of his house in iloit court with his wig back to front and his stockings down. When iloswell visited him at I luner Temple lane he records; His brown snit of clothes looked very rusty: he had on a little, old shriveled unpowdered wig, which was too small for his head; his shirt neck and the knees of his breeches were loose, his black worsted stockings iil drawn np. and by wny of slippers he had on n pair of mibuckled shoes." When it is added that this great man was constantly twitching, grunting, sluking his head, onlying his cheeks and blinking his eyes, it must be admitted that his appearance was not only ancoutle but grotesque.

Thomas Carlyle, coming of a pensant race, never conformed to society garb. He was always the juspired peasant. He would sometimes go out in his old dressing gown, over which he buttoned a big coat, gray with age. When he was left ulone in the house he delighted in swilling his flagstones with pails of water, and many a distinguished friend found him thus engaged with a kind of smock on and his bushy full roll tonsled. He went shout all the summer among the highest aristocracy in a frieze jacket which was part of an old dressing gown. Alt the calmen and has drivers Chelsen way knew him. One said. "He may wear a queer 'at. but what would ver give for the 'eadplece inside of it?"

It would not be seemly to describe Tennyson as sloveniy in any rent sense. He was a singularly noble what he wore. His old slouch but had seen ununmbered years and flapped about at all ungles, and the Inverness cape which he invariably wore was about as old as his lint. People who met him without knowing his immense distinction would have regarded him as a rather quaint character, and a tailor's entter would not have assessed him at half a dollar, all toid.

This is a description of the daily appearance of Edward Fitzgerald, the Immortal translator of "The Rubaiyat" of Omar Khayyam: "Stragging gray hair and slovenly in dress, wearing an ancient, battered, black banded, shiny edged tail hat, round which he would in wintry weather tie a handkerchiet to keep it in place; his clothes of baggy bine cloth, as though he were it seafarer: his tronsers short and his shoes low, exhibiting a length of white or gray stockings. With an unstarched shirt front, high, crumided, standuncotian, a hig black stilk tie in a careless how: in cold weather trailing a green and black and gray plaid shawt, in hot weather even walking barefoot with his hoots ships to it stick." Surely "Old Fitz," as Tennyson called iflm. took the cake for slovenliness of ail the Immortais!-l'earson's Weekly.

A Useful Army.

Completing the improvements in a conquered town, says f'opular Mechan ics, is an unusual occupation for an invading army, but this is what happened in Uskub, Mucedonia. When the Baikan war broke out the electric street lighting system was nimost complete. The town was then taken by the Servian army, and the engineering staff completed the system and put It in working order, Dore's Musical Rebus.

Gustave Dore, the famous painter and engraver, once bought a villa on the outskirts of Paris and wrote over the entrance this musicul rebus. Do. tol, st. la. do, re. Tills, properly interoreted, is "Domicile a Dure," or in olsin English "Home of Dore."

An Invitation.

"What are you thinking of, Miss. Wombat?"

"Of your name, Mr. Huggins." "My name?"

CUT THE ARMY RED TAPE.

Willich Knew His Men and They Knew Him and That Seltled it.

There are times when the so called "red tape" of the army gives way nothe battle of Chickannanga Beneral Willich, who was commanding a teleral, by some slight omission. Generat Willich was sent for and informed reer. by the general commanding that he must consider himself under nerest for the present.

"You may leave your sword here," mided Rosecrans, "until your case b

"Yes, general, i will consider myselt as soon as this engagement is over, I'll come and fix up the heater."

"Ilut, sir." said the astounded Bose crans, 'I want you to consider your self under arrest now."

"Of course I do," responded Willie: promptly, "and just as soon as this fight is over I'll see that the matter

"But, sir," exposiniated the commanding general, "i can't jet you go j into this tight. You are under arrest. I will assign an officer to your folgade

"You send an officer to command my boys?" crici Willich holignantly. "He can't command them! They don't know him! They know me-1 can teach them. None of my boys would know how to fight or what to do noless I was with them. My lays belong to me. Yes, me. General Willich! i command the brigade, and i must right the brigade."

General Rosecrans gave it up Gen eral Willich was requested to return-"and light his boys," which he did most successfully. And that was the end of the matter.-Washington Star.

BECOMING A BRITON.

Easy For Aliens to Acquire Citizenship in England.

A large number of aliens become British subjects every year by taking advantage of the naturalization act. The process of taking out naturalization papers in England is delightfulle simple. An application can be put through in a comple of weeks if good and sufficient reasons can be shown. while the average time clapsing icetween amplication for a certificate of naturalization and the granting of per mission to file the oath of nilegiance to the king with the home office, which automatically confers British citizen ship, is only about eight weeks.

The naturalization act of 1870 re quires that the applicant shaff have resided in the United Kingdom at least five years and shull intend, when not urailzed, to continue to reside here.

The lease of a house or an apartment is sufficient to establish legal residence. The landford's word is taken as sufficlent proof. The applicant has merely to fill heat blank with the details of his residence and other Information and have the facts as to his residence veri tied by one British subject, wille the applicant's respectability and loyalty Of late years the custom has certainly must be vanched for by others. He decreased, and the house of lords has then flies the application with a £1 fee at the home office. A special Scotland Yard detective is assigned to inquire into the case and examine all the statements on the applicant's memoriai. Three months is nilowed him by which to make his report, but a few weeks usually suffice. If the application is passed another fee of £2 is remired. The unidicant then has permission to tile his eath of afleglance, which concludes the process.-London Tit-Bits.

A Puritan Jury.

That the Parilan fashion of nomen ciature produced some very odd re sults is very generally known. The London Chronicle recalls that James Brome, in his "Traveis Over England Scotland and Wales," published in 1700, gives a copy of a "Jury Return Made at Bye, Sussex, in the Late Be belllous Trouldesome Tlues,"

The names of the twelve good men and true were: Meek Brewer, Graceful Harding, Killsin Plmple, Earth Adams. Weepnot Billing, More Fruit Fowler Hope-for Hending, Return Spelman Fly Debate Roberts, Stand Fast on High Stringer, Be Faithful Johner and Fight the Good Fight of Faith White.

The Bishop's Place.

The bishop of London, speaking at the ammai meeting of the hishop of London's fund at Grosvenor House, sald that churches did not drop down from heaven may more than bishops. though a little girl in his congregation. evidently under that delusion, and recently said to her mother during a tiring sermon: "I um tired now, mother. Can't the bishop go back to heaven?"-London Standard.

The Organ.

Like most important inventions, that of the organ is velled in mystery. The Invention of the organ has been nttributed to Ctesiblus, a barber of Alexandria, about 250 B. C ; also to the celebruted Archimedes, 220 B. C. it is certain that the organ was brought or Europe from the eastern or Greek empire and was applied to religious devotions in churches about A. D. 150.

It is Different Now.

When the first l'ullman cur was put into operation on our raliways the system of bookkeeping was very crude. The conductor collected the fare from the passengers and before he turned the money in to the company collected his own sainry from the revenues. No receipts were given, no records kept.

Legal Ability.

"Why does a man have to hire a lawyer for every little thing? Ain't the laws pinin?"

"You dou't understand. A good lawyer can take any law and prove that it doesn't mean what it says."-Wash-Ington Hernid.

First American Currency. ltefore Mexico was invaded by the Spanfards coins were unknown there, the nutives using in place of money the smallest encao benas, reserving those of larger size and hetter quality for the manufacture of a liquor 🛤 which they were addicted.

About fourteen years after the conquest-that is to say, about 1535-Castillaa coins began to make their appearance in Mexico. As they urrived with bolling water and then inverted only in very small quantities, they were lasufficient for the needs of trade, It was then that the viceroy ordered the manufacture in the City of Mexico chiefly to prevent the escape of the of small pieces of silver of a certain weight.

These pieces were not stamped with From them was derived the name daintly slaped. "peso."

These pieces of silver remained in pleces of gold and of copper were also found that this sort of circulating medinus made fraud easy, and the Span-Ish government established three whits, granting them a perpetual existence for America

The columge of money in the City of Mexico was netually begun during the relgu of Viceroy Antonio de Mendoza, who established a mlut in buildings belonging to the Marquis del Valle. ttere it remained only a short period, being transferred first to the connell building and later to the viceroyal pal-

During all this time the coluage was of a coasiderable amount and the facilliles for the establishment were not sufficient to meet the demands made upon it for coins, for which reason frequent demands for minting apparatus are found in the records. BATTLES IN POETRY.

In Tuscany Even the Peacante Indulge in Thie Pactime.

Visit the home of a pensant in Tuscany on some wlater's evening and you will be surprised and charmed, writes Mr. Richard Bagot lu "The Italians of Today." Gathered round the kitchen fire after the duy's work is done, these peasants, fresh from their rough labor in the fields and vineyards, vie with each other la reclifug poetry and telling stories. Generally both are extempornneons, and often they have a good deal of poetic grace and imagination.

The gift of reciting improvised poetry is not, however, confined to the pensants in Tusenny. I know of an instance that occurred in my own aeighborhood not so very long ago that certainly could not have occurred anywhere but in Tusenuy. A local doctor, was driving to catch a train at a station a few miles from me, and on his way he was accosted by a colleague who happened to be looking over his garden wall. The colleague shouted out a line of improvised verse to him. upon which the other instantly pulled up his horse and capped the line with another.

Doctor No. 2 responded, and for three hours the poetle contest was conthmed without cessation. In the meantime the whole of the village had turned out to listen and to make wagers on which would be the first to lack an inspiration. It was only as dusk came on that doctor No. 1 remembered that he was on his way to catch a train!

The Oyeter.

The oyster is a very ancient lastituion and a most honorable one. From line lumemorial poets have sung of him and orators have dwelt upon his charms. Invenal, the most illustrious of ell satirists, enlivered the literary harms of the reigns of Trojan and Itadrian with his comments on the oyster, and the comments were not satirical either, but warmly commendatory The oyster, the true cosmopolite, is found prefty nearly everywhere and was the delight of the world for ages upon ages before the man from Jenna found the slores of America .-New York American.

THE FIRST TEACUPS.

They Had No Handles, and Sausers

Were Used as Covers. In the middle of the seventeeath cea tury ten was lutroduced into England, and with it came the Chinese or "china" teacup. Straugely enough, the men who imported it from the orient did not themselves understand the method of its use.

The Chluese put a plack of tea lato a large enp without a intidle, illied it a sancer over the receptucle, within whose rim it closely fitted. The object was partly to retain the heat, but fragrance of the herb, which the Chinese found most delicious. The infuslow was permitted to stand for tive any columne mark, and their value was minutes, when it was decanted into determined entirely by their weight, a second out without a sancer and John Bull, however, emphatically declined to take his ten in Chinese fushcirculation a number of years, and jon. He liked the appearance of the oriminental ware upon his table, but atded in time. Shou, however, it was he insisted on placing the cup in the sancer, like a miniature flowerpol, and used it exclusively to drink from, preparlug the beverage in a common instead of an individual receptacle.

In course of thue England began the manufacture of cups and sancers, and pictures which have been preserved from the days of the Stuarts show big. thirling emps, four luches across the top. with saucers less than three inches in diameter. By degrees one dwindled and the other expanded, until in the middle of the nineteenth century the opposite extreme was reached, and fushionable tea services had emps only an luch and a half in dinmeter, necompauled by five inch saucers.

The handle of the tenesp came from Mediterranem lands. Originally it was made of thick and strong earthenware and applied to heavy jars and lamps. Its decorative possibilities pupularized it with Greek and toman potters, who extended its use to small amphorae and flagous; but, as the word "amphora" ludlentes, the handle was double. Slugle handles crept into use by slow degrees and were probably appiled to drinking cups about the time that coffee came into vogue in southern Europe, the beverage being taken almost at the bolling point, so that some device for lifting the cap without burning the thigers was found desira ble .- I.ondon Tutler.

A BRIDE FROM THE TOMB.

Romance of Benedello Marcello. the Venetian Composer.

Benedello Marcello, one of the most faamus Veuetlan composers, fell in love with a beautiful girl named Leonora Manfrotti, who married Pholo Seranzo, a Venetlan noble. She died a short time after her marriage, a victim to the harsh and jealous treatment of her husband.

Her body was laid out la state to one of the clorches, and her bover actually succeeded in stenling the corpse and conveying it to a rulued crypt la one of the Islands, and here he sat day and night by his lost bye, singing and playing to her, as though by the force of his art he could recall

Leonora had a twin sister, Ellade, was so like her that her ele friends could scarcely distinguish them. One day Ellade heard a singer in a gondoln singing so exquisitely that she truced the goudola to the deserted islaud, and there she learned later the fate of her sister's corpse and the identity of Marrello. Aided by a servant, Ellade substituted herself for her sister's body, and when Marcello returned and called Leonora to awake he did not ask in valu, for apparently she rose allye from the coffin. Marcello when he found out the delusion was quite satisfied and married Ellade, but his languages was short lived, as he died a few years afterward.-London Telegruph.

Damp Room Teet.

To ascertain whether a room is damp or not place a weighed quantity of fresh lime in an open vessel in the room and leave It there for twentyfour hours, earefully closing the windows and doors. At the end of the twenty-four hours reweigh the lime, and if the increase exceeds t per cent of the original weight it is not safe to live in the room.
